

Unwanted telemarketing telephone calls are morally equivalent to someone breaking into your home and pasting billboards on all of your walls.